TALLAHASSEE, FL - Luster All Training Center, located in Bartow, Florida, was awarded school of the year by the Florida Association of Postsecondary Schools and Colleges (FAPSC). The FAPSC award recognizes schools for their outstanding contributions to career education. Accepting for Luster All Training Center was Dr. Harvey Lester, school founder.

“Over the course of Luster All’s eleven years, over 600 students have enrolled, 530 received scholarships, 580 graduated and 485 students have jobs,” stated Dr. Lester. “Our success stories demonstrate this institution’s encouragement and motivation toward individuals becoming self-sufficient, productive and responsible citizens in a diverse society.”

Luster All Training Center is a non-profit community-based minority organization providing services and career instruction to low to moderate-income residents living in rural Central Florida. Many of the Luster All students are unemployed, single parents, high school drop-outs or minimum wage workers seeking career skills in health related fields.

Besides career instruction, Luster All Training works with low income families with credit issues, counsels at-risk teens and teaches HIV/AIDS awareness and Health Prevention Education. The central focus of this institution is self-sufficiency through community development.
